

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

You can't be shy about your feelings!

Learning Outcome

Describe complicated or unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- When do you feel anxious? What type of situation is it?
- When do you ask for help or advice? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about feelings and sensations.
- I can talk about things I have done or have been doing.
- I can show I understand someone's feelings or situation.

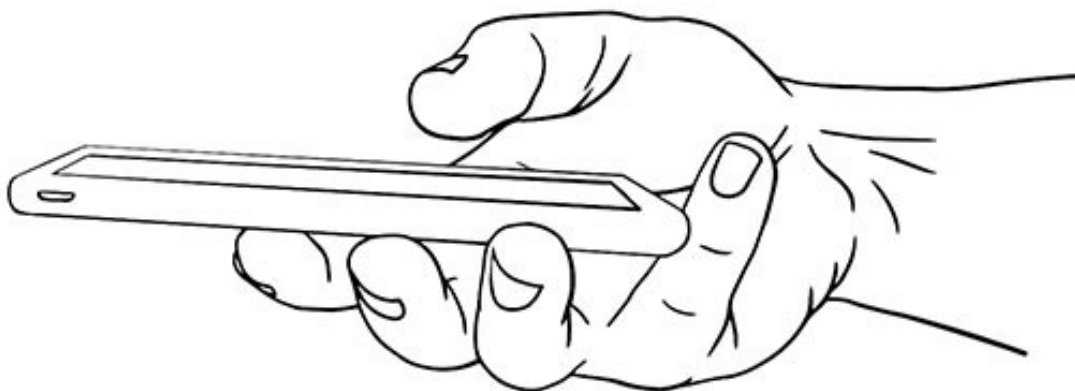

Let's Explore!

Peter shares his love woes with Paula.

* "Woe" means sorrow, distress, often in romantic situations.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Paula: So, Peter, tell me about Camilla. Why didn't it work out in the end?
- Peter: I never said that we went out together! We were just good friends in college.
- Paula: So why did you say she was your soulmate? It sounds like the two of you were confused about your feelings.
- Peter: I only found out she had a crush on me after Sally and Vanessa pointed out that it was pretty obvious. I guess I didn't see it at the time.
- Paula: Oh, Peter! It feels like you've been thinking a lot about this.
- Peter: Of course I have. I've been so unlucky with my dates lately. In fact, I've been trying to get in touch with Camilla recently. I wish I was brave enough to call her.
- Paula: Why don't you? It sounds to me like she cares a lot about you. I wish you were a bit more proactive about this!
- Peter: Trust me, I've tried. I just feel anxious whenever I know I have to call someone. I wish I could be more like my friend Mike.
- Paula: Have you asked him for advice? It feels like you could learn a lot from him.
- Peter: He's been giving me pointers, of course. I guess I'm just a boring nerd.
- Paula: Don't say that! You're special in your own way. I wish someone realized that.
- Peter: Thanks. Maybe I should just get over the whole dating thing ...

Let's Practice!

Peter thinks falling in love is hard to do!

Instructions: Read the sentences. Choose the correct answer. Use the sentences to model a conversation with your partner. Switch roles.

1. Why didn't it work _____ in the end? out/ in/ on
2. I only found out she _____ a crush on me after Sally and Vanessa pointed out that it was pretty obvious. had/ have/ has
3. I've been trying to _____ in touch with Camilla recently. get/ got/ gets
4. He's been _____ me pointers, of course. giving/ gave/ give
5. I guess I didn't _____ it at the time. see/ sees/ seen

Let's Practice!

Something is missing. Can you find it?

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentences. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor

1. about / to / It / me / like / sounds / she / cares / a / you. / lot

2. realized / someone / that. / wish / I

3. from / a / feels / you / can / It / learn / lot / him. / like

4. brave / her. / wish / I / I / was / enough / call / to

5. feels / thinking / It / you've / a / lot / about / this. / been / like

6. about / sounds / the / of / were / It / confused / your / feelings. / like / two / you

Extension Activity

Common dating problems.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Identify some of the most common problems people have when dating.
- Have a partner do the same and then read one of your problems to your partner, then have them read one to you.
- Give advice to your partner while showing you understand their feelings by using expressions "it sounds like, it feels like."

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about socializing.

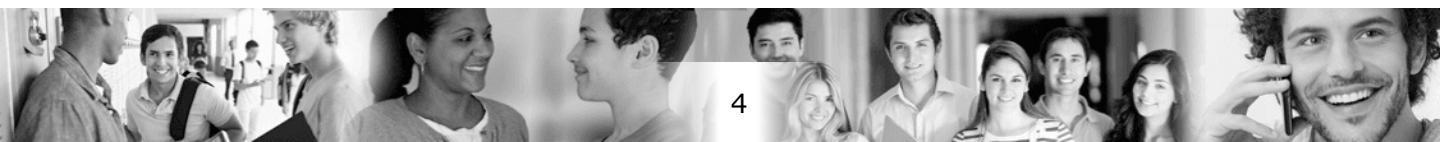

☐ ☐

I encourage agreement.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to have a crush (expression): to be infatuated with someone e.g. Sally told me that Camilla has a crush on me.
- obvious (adjective): predictable and easily understood e.g. I only found out she had a crush on me after Sally pointed out that it was pretty obvious.
- anxious (adjective): nervous
e.g. I just feel anxious whenever I know I have to call someone.
- pointer (noun): advice
e.g. Mike has been giving me pointers on how to be more relaxed on a date.
- nerd (noun): someone obsessively interested in a particular subject e.g. I'm a comic book nerd. Not all my dates understand that.
- to get over (verb): to recover from an upsetting experience
e.g. I've been unlucky with my relationships lately. Maybe I should just get over the whole dating thing ...

Learning Points

Present Perfect Continuous vs. Present Perfect

You use these tenses to express that an action began in the past and is still going on or has just finished. The past action is connected to the present in some way.

To talk about a result or a recently completed action, use the Present Perfect tense.

The form of the Present Perfect is:

Regular verbs: form of have + base form of verb + -ed

Irregular verbs: form of have + past participle of irregular verbs

To talk about the duration of an action, use the Present Perfect Continuous tense.

The form of the Present Perfect Continuous is:

have + been + base form of verb + -ing

Examples:

- Ann: It feels like you've been thinking a lot about Camilla lately.
- Bob: Of course I have! In fact, I've been trying to get in touch with her recently. I've been so unlucky with my dates lately.

Showing You Understand Someone's Feelings or Situation

Showing empathy is an important part of natural conversation. It means that you understand someone else's situation. It makes the other person more comfortable talking to you, which can extend the conversation.

When you want to show empathy, use expressions like:

It sounds like ...

It feels like ...

Example:

It sounds like the two of you were confused.

It feels like you've been thinking a lot about this.

Examples:

- It feels like you could learn a lot from him.
- It sounds like you've been having a hard time.
- It feels like you have more to say about the subject.
- It seems like I could do more to help you.

