

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

People will do crazy things for love!

Learning Outcome

Describe complicated or unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What is the most surprising thing you've done for a family member or a close friend?
- Do you share your feelings with others easily? Why or why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about feelings and sensations.
- I can talk about things I have done or have been doing.
- I can show I understand someone's feelings or situation.

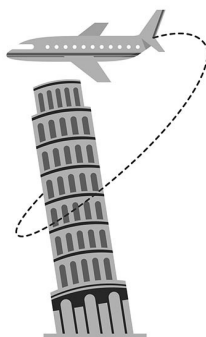

Let's Explore!

Paula talks about how strong-willed her mother is. Her love story is truly remarkable.

* In English, you can make hyphenated adjectives by adding a noun or an adjective and a past participle, like "strong-willed".

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Peter: Hi, Paula! Did you finish cleaning the house yesterday?
- Paula: I started, but I haven't finished yet. How are you?
- Peter: I'm so disappointed. I haven't heard the end of your parents' story yet.
- Paula: OK, so you want to know more?
- Peter: Absolutely! I've been wanting to know how it ends since you started.
- Paula: Well ... where were we? I've been telling this story a lot lately.
- Peter: Your mother was sending letters to your uncle to learn about your father's life.
- Paula: Oh, yes. Well, in one of the letters, she learned that my father had a new girlfriend.
- Peter: She must have felt so sad!
- Paula: Yes, she was devastated. In fact, she has always been a very strong-willed woman. She decided that she had to go back to Italy before the new relationship turned into something serious.
- Peter: That sounds very gutsy.
- Paula: Yes, but it was better than staying at home and crying your heart out. Have you ever heard of someone being so smitten?
- Peter: What was her plan?
- Paula: She didn't want to lie to her parents, so she told them she had business in Milan for a few days. Of course, they thought she meant Milan, New York, a city about 20 minutes away. Really, she meant Milan, Italy. She packed a suitcase and bought a one-way ticket at the airport.
- Peter: I wish I had that much courage.
- Paula: I wish I did, too.

Let's Practice!

Paula talks more about her mom's story.

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Correct the mistake. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. She must has felt so sad!
2. She must be a very strong will woman.
3. The news of the other relationship was devastated.
4. That sound very gutsy.
5. Your mother's parents couldn't have bean happy about her decision.

Let's Practice!

Paula talks about some of her wishes!

Instructions: Choose the phrases from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences. Use the completed sentences to model a conversation with your partner. Switch roles.

Word Bank

in a long distance relationship / my soul mate was / I knew how that much courage / your boyfriend was more romantic / were gutsy

1. I wish I had _____.
2. I wish _____ my mom met my dad.
3. I wish I knew who _____.
4. Don't you wish _____?
5. Don't you wish you _____?
6. I don't wish I was _____.

Extension Activity

Write about the worst date ever!

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write a story - real or imaginary - about the worst date you have ever had.
- Describe how you felt. Why was it so bad? What happened? How did you feel after?
- Write 8 to 10 sentences and use a lot of detail focusing on feelings.
- Share your story with a partner.
- Exchange stories. Read your partner's story and edit it.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about feelings and sensations.

☐ ☐

I talk about things I have done or have been doing.

☐ ☐

I show I understand someone's feelings or situation.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- devastated (adjective): shocked and overwhelmed; in grief
e.g. She was devastated when she found out that my dad had a new girlfriend.
- to cry your heart out (expression): to weep for a long period of time e.g. Going back to Italy was better than staying at home and crying her heart out.
- gutsy (adjective): showing courage and determination
e.g. Going to Italy to meet her boyfriend was very gutsy.
- smitten (adjective): to be taken by someone e.g. Have you ever heard of anyone being so smitten?
- strong-willed (adjective): determined to do something at all costs
e.g. My mother has always been a strong-willed woman.

Learning Points

Present Perfect Continuous vs. Present Perfect

You use these tenses to express that an action began in the past and is still going on or has just finished.

You use the Present Perfect tense mainly to express that an action is completed or to emphasize the result.

Forms:

Regular verbs: form of 'have' + base form of verb + ed

Example: I haven't finished cleaning yet.

Irregular verbs: form of 'have' + past participle of irregular verbs

Example: I haven't heard the end of the story yet.

You use the Present Perfect Continuous tense to emphasize the duration or continuous course of an action.

Form:

Form of 'have' + been + base form of verb + ing

Example: I've been telling this story a lot lately.

Subject	has/have	been	verb + ing
I	have	been	telling the story a lot lately .
I	have	been	waiting to know how it ends since you started.

- You use adverbs like lately to talk about the duration of the action.
- You use SINCE to talk about when the action started (2010, Monday, August)

Examples:

- Ann: I've been wanting to know how the story ends since you started!
- Bob: Where were we? I've been telling this story a lot lately.

Learning Points

Show you understand someone's feelings or situation

It is common to show you understand someone's feelings in a conversation. You use "I wish ..." to talk about things you do not have or do, or you cannot have or do.

The verb wish introduces an idea. After wish, you use a verb in the past tense.

I wish I knew ...
I wish I had ...
I wish you were ...

Structure:

Wish + Simple Past tense

Example:

I wish I had that much courage.

I wish I did, too.

Structure:

Modal + have + past participle

You can use modals to show you understand someone's feelings in a past situation.

Example:

Your mother must have felt so sad.

Examples:

- Ann: Your mother was so brave to leave everything behind to be with the love of her life. She must have felt so sad to be apart from him.
- Bob: I wish I had that much courage.
- Ann: I wish I did, too.

