

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Long-distance relationships can be tricky ...

Learning Outcome

Describe complicated or unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about feelings and sensations.
- I can talk about things I am supposed to do and things that are supposed to happen.
- I can express possibility and certainty.

Ask your partner:

- Where do your close friends live? Are they all in the same city?
- Do you have long-distance friendships or relationships? How easy is it to keep in touch with these people?

Let's Explore!

Paula talks about how her parents beat the odds of keeping their romance alive despite being apart for a while.

* You "beat the odds" when you overcome a great difficulty.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Peter: Hi, Paula! How was your parents' anniversary party?
Paula: Oh, it was great. Everyone was in such a great mood.
Peter: Now can you continue the story about when your parents met?
Paula: Well, I can continue a part of the story, but I may not be able to finish it today.
Peter: Really? It's that long?
Paula: It spans over 6 months.
Peter: Go on.
Paula: Well, my mother was shocked and confused that her parents disagreed with the wedding. She must have found the situation very frustrating.
Peter: I would think so.
Paula: My mother tried to be happy living in the United States on her own again, but secretly, she kept her dream of living in Italy alive. She couldn't stop thinking about him. She decided to learn Italian and to keep in touch through my father's brother.
Peter: Your uncle.
Paula: Yes. I'm supposed to keep this part secret. She wrote letters to my Uncle Alfredo, pretending to be an old American girlfriend of his who just wanted to practice Italian. In every letter, she asked for information about my father. He thought it was amusing.
Peter: That's so romantic! Keep going!
Paula: Sorry, Peter. I should stop now. I am supposed to clean the house this afternoon because we may have some guests coming over.
Peter: OK, Paula.

Let's Practice!

What should Paula be doing now?

Instructions: Read the sentence. Select the correct answer. Use the completed sentences to model a conversation with your partner. Switch roles.

1. I'm _____ to keep this part secret. supposed / suppose / supposing
2. I _____ stop now. suppose to / should / suppose
3. You _____ supposed to clean the house this afternoon because we may have some guests _____ coming over. am / is / are
4. You are _____ to keep family secrets quiet. suppose / supposed / supposing
5. He shouldn't _____ too much about himself . talking / talks / talk

Let's Practice!

Paula's mom must have felt lonely!

Instructions: Choose the words from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences. Use the completed sentences to model a conversation with your partner. Switch roles.

Word Bank

wouldn't / must / may not / may / must

1. I _____ be able to finish it today.
2. She _____ have found the situation very frustrating.
3. I _____ imagine she was very lonely in America.
4. We _____ have some guests coming over.
5. Your mother _____ have loved Italy very much.

Extension Activity

Write about the dos and don'ts of dating!

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Describe the different expectations for men and for women.
- How are men and women supposed to behave? Are they supposed to behave a certain way at work? At home?
- Write 10-12 sentences using supposed to and should.
- Share with your partner and compare results.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about feelings and sensations.

☐ ☐

I talk about things people are supposed to do and things that are supposed to happen.

☐ ☐

I identify different types of behavior for men and women.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to span (verb): to last a certain amount of time
e.g. This story spans over 6 months.
- confused (adjective): unable to think clearly e.g. My mother was shocked and confused that her parents disagreed with the wedding.
- to keep in touch (expression): to maintain contact with someone e.g. My mother kept in touch with my father through my uncle.
- to pretend (verb): to act so as to show that something is true when it is not e.g. She pretended to be a friend of my uncle's.
- girlfriend (noun): a female companion with whom a person has a romantic relationship
e.g. She pretended to be an old American girlfriend of my uncle's.

Learning Points

Should and Be Supposed To

You use the modal should or the structure be supposed to when you want to talk about expectations, obligations or arrangements.

You can use be supposed to to talk about situations in the present or future that are expected to happen.

The structure is:

Subject + to be + supposed to + verb

I'm supposed to clean the house this afternoon.

*Pronunciation tip:

When you say be supposed to, you link the /d/ and /t/ sounds together.

Like this:

Be suppose_to

Examples:

- I should stop talking now.
- I'm supposed to clean the house this afternoon.

Learning Points

Modals for Possibility and Certainty

You can use modals to talk about degrees of certainty.

You use them to describe what is definite, probable, possible, or impossible from the speaker's point of view.

You can use must, may, might, and could to describe degrees of certainty.

You can use modals with have + past participle to talk about the possibility of a past event that is not clear in the present context.

Example:

She must have found the situation frustrating.

Must = it's very likely

Must not / Could not / Can't = it's not possible

May / Might / Can / Could = it's possible

May not / Might not = it's possible this is not true

Modal	Meaning
She must have (must've) found the situation frustrating.	It's very likely the situation was frustrating.
She couldn't stop thinking about him.	It wasn't possible to stop thinking about him.
I can continue now.	It's possible to continue now.
I may not be able to finish the story today.	It's not likely that I can finish the story.

